CHARGE NUMBER: 417-2018-01566

CHARGING PARTY: Ronald Johnson

Respondent: Cook Out Chesapeake Inc.

Ronald Johnson resigned his job without notice on or about September 05, 2018. Mr. Johnson was not subject to any form of harassment nor was he denied any known reasonable accommodations during his employment at this location.

Mr. Johnson was hired for a closing crew member position. All crew and management positions require frequent and thorough hand washing as well as the ability to wash dishes, and clean floors and equipment. There is no evidence Mr. Johnson made the managers at the location aware of any allergy or medical condition that would preclude him from performing these duties upon hire or at anytime up to the date of the doctor's note discussed below.

During the investigation into this charge, Mr. Keith Harvard was interviewed regarding the events of August 25th 2018. Mr. Harvard recalled that Mr. Johnson did complain about washing dishes, and Mr. Johnson did reference a doctor's note. According to Mr. Harvard, he could not find any documentation that night to confirm Mr. Johnson's condition. Even though no documentation could be found that night, Mr. Harvard told Mr. Johnson that he did not have to wash dishes, and that he (Mr. Harvard) would do the dishes instead. Mr. Harvard also informed Mr. Johnson that, since he was not doing the dishes as part of the normal closing procedure, he was free to leave early at around 3 am. This would have resulted in Mr. Johnson leaving approximately 45 minutes early that night. Mr. Harvard recalled that Mr. Johnson refused to leave early and voluntarily washed dishes. At no time during this interaction or any other interaction did Mr. Harvard suspend or threaten to suspend Mr. Johnson from working for any length of time. By policy, Mr. Harvard as a co-manager does not have the authority to suspend employees. Only the General Manager has that authority.

During our investigation into this charge, we located a note which would appear to be from Mr. Johnson's primary physician. This note is dated August 27, 2018 (note that this is dated after the August 25, 2018 interaction with Mr. Harvard) and excused him from work until August 30, 2018. This note was found in the manager communication log and would have most likely been given to the management team after Mr. Johnson's return to work on or around August 30, 2018.

As part of the investigation into this charge, we spoke to the District Manager, Jon Girard, who was referenced in the charge. Mr. Girard stated that he spoke to Mr. Johnson on or around September 1, 2018. After speaking with Mr. Johnson about his apparent allergy to the ordinary hand soap used to wash dishes, Mr. Girard assured him that he would not have to wash dishes moving forward. Mr. Girard stated that this seemed to satisfy Mr. Johnson. Payroll records show that Mr. Johnson returned to work on September 3rd after Mr. Girard assured him that the requested accommodations would be honored.

There is no report of any issues on September 3rd. There is no record of any additional complaints from Mr. Johnson after Mr. Girard resolved the situation. Mr. Johnson stopped showing up to work after his closing shift on September 3rd. Mr. Johnson missed a number of scheduled shifts and there is no record of any attempts to contact the store (per policy) to give any reasons for the absences.

Both Mr. Harvard and Mr. Girard stated that Mr. Johnson returned to the location to pick up his paycheck and while there became very argumentative and aggressive with the GM and Mr. Harvard regarding the doctor's notes and allegations that he had lied about his medical condition.

Mr. Johnson was not subject to any harassment nor was he denied any known reasonable request for accommodations. Mr. Johnson abandoned his job without notice. We respectfully request that this charge be dismissed.
